

The Republican.

J. W. GRANT, Publisher.

SATURDAY, MAY 2, 1901.

The Piedmont shoe factory employs 40 hands and is turning out large numbers of shoes daily.

Mr. John J. Mickle formerly of the Hot Blast, is now associate editor of the Evening News.

President Hall, of the Missouri Alliance, has refused to issue a call for delegates to Mr. McGrath's third party convention, in Cincinnati, and says he is no third party man.

Senator George, of Mississippi, who is a candidate for re-election, is stumping the State of Mississippi in opposition to the sub-treasury bill, and it is said he will be re-elected.

The roof of the Opera house in Troy fell in Wednesday and crushed thirty young ladies beneath it. They were in the building practicing for a concert. Two were killed outright and two were fatally wounded. Others were hurt more or less seriously.

A negro named Jack Askew shot Noah Thomas of DeArmanville and dangerously wounded him near Anniston Wednesday. Thomas was intoxicated and on his way from Anniston to his home. He is thought the negro shot him to rob him, as he took money from his person after the deed.

Cleburne county has two excellent papers in the Edwardsville Standard-News and Cleburne Pioneer-Post.

Our neighbor has overlooked another excellent paper in Cleburne, the Healin Era. It is thought the paper is always fresh and bright and its editor, Mr. Porter, is a very level-headed man.

Mrs. Julia Martin, on trial for her life for the killing of her brother-in-law, Ed. Martin, has been acquitted. It was shown that Ed. Martin had seduced her before her marriage to his brother and afterwards persecuted her and separated her husband from her. Birmingham was wild with joy over her acquittal. The Age-Herald now cries out for the prosecution of the detectives employed by Ed. Martin to watch and persecute her.

The subscription list of the REPUBLICAN is growing an unusual thing at this season of the year. Usually the REPUBLICAN has ever striven to be true to the best interests of the people of Calhoun, and is glad to be able to record this evidence of appreciation of the fact by the intelligent people of the county.

Circuit Court.

Circuit Court opened Monday. Judge Box presiding. The charge of his honor to the grand jury was lucid and able. The grand jury is a very intelligent body of gentlemen and the interests of the State are safe in their hands. The same may be said of the petit jury. The attendance has been small each day of the court, owing to the fact that the planters are very busy in their crops. The business of the court is being rapidly dispatched and may be finished in two weeks, three at the utmost.

Piedmont Dramatic Club.

Monday night, at College hall, the Piedmont dramatic club rendered "The old clothes' merchant of Venice," a burlesque sketch, before a fair house of our best people. That the club largely exceeded the expectations of the audience is to bestow upon them less than deserved praise. Each and every member of the club evinced dramatic talent and knowledge of the arts of the stage far above that ordinarily possessed by amateurs. Mrs. Haines, the Misses Dorsey, Master Sherwood Haines and Arthur H. Smith accompanied the party. The company was composed of Mr. McPherson, stage manager, Mr. Gould, Mr. Haines, Mr. Williams, Mr. Cooke and Mr. Dorsey. The local gags were good, especially that on the spelling bee, frequently eliciting applause and laughter. On the whole our people were well entertained and cordially extended the club an invitation to come again.

Subscribers are constantly writing to this office to know the state of their accounts. To avoid the trouble of correspondence on this head the date to which each subscriber has paid up will henceforth be printed on his paper with his name. This will serve also to let subscribers know that they have received proper credit for amounts sent in and will answer for a receipt. It is possible that errors have been made in making up the list, this week, as we have not been able to compare the whole of it with the ledger. Whenever a subscriber finds from his receipt that there is an error in his account, we will be greatly obliged if he will at once notify us by letter or postal card, so that proper correction may be made. Be certain to give your post-office, when you write.

Paper Cutter.

Having bought a new Paragon Paper Cutter, the REPUBLICAN will sell its Flow paper cutter, iron frame, very low for cash. It is in good condition. Having no need for it, we will give a great bargain in it.

DELEGATES TO WORLD'S FAIR CONVENTION.

Appointed by Judge Crook at Request of Central Committee.

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., April 27.—Editor Hot Blast, Anniston, Ala. Dear Sir:—I have received a circular from the Committee to arrange for holding a convention in Montgomery to consider ways and means to have the State properly represented at the World's Fair to be held in 1893, requesting me to appoint one delegate for every three thousand inhabitants, to represent Calhoun county at said convention, and I have appointed as such delegates:

Hon. John M. McKleroy, Hon. L. W. Grant, Hon. W. P. Cooper, Hon. G. C. Williams, Dr. T. C. Hill, Mr. Geo. D. Harris, Mr. Louis J. Morris, Mr. Milton A. Smith, Mr. William G. Ledbetter, Col. Robert McKee, Genl. J. W. Burke.

I would earnestly impress upon the delegates the great importance of Alabama's being represented at the "World's Fair" in a manner becoming our grand old State, and beg a full attendance of the above gentlemen in order that Calhoun county may receive due consideration, and be fully represented.

Yours truly,
EMMETT F. CROOK.

JACKSONVILLE DECORATION DAY OBSERVATIONS.

(Special to the Age-Herald.)

JACKSONVILLE, ALA., April 28th.—Yesterday afternoon the pupils of United States history, assisted by the "Character Builders," under the supervision of Miss Haley, teacher of history at the State Normal school, visited the cemetery and did honor to our dead soldiers in a charming and appropriate manner.

Promptly at 2:30 the pupils marched from the school, waving their banners. The exercises were opened with prayer by Rev. Mr. Walker. The roll of pupils was called and each person responded by giving a patriotic quotation.

The programme was as follows:

Reading, "Letter From Pelham," Jack Ward.

Recitation, "Southern Soldier Boy," Martin Crook.

Song, "The Vacant Chair," girls.

Recitation, "Lines on a Confederate Bill," Alberta Stevenson.

Recitation, "The Conquered Banner," Annie Daveport.

Reading, "Prayer of the South," Emily Goodlett.

Recitation, "Ashes of Glory," Maggie Wiggins.

Recitation, "Blue and the Gray," Marie Burke.

Recitation, "Cover Them Over With Beautiful Flowers," Madgie Wilkerson, Carrie Turner, Katie Ross, Goldie Ayers, Lottie Weems, in concert.

Song, "Sweet By-and-By," all.

The flags borne by the children were United States, Stars and Bars, Confederate battle flag and Confederate camp flag. After the exercises were over a man was heard to remark: "I had not intended going over this afternoon, but when I saw the flag under which I fought so long I could not stay away." The children deserve much credit for the manner in which they acquitted themselves.

New Orleans, April 25.—A special from Atlanta, Ala. says: "Last night a gang of five white robbers broke open several stores and terrorized the community by shooting at random after committing the robbery. They fled, pursued by a posse of officers and citizens, and a half mile from town the robbers stopped and defied arrest. They were armed with shot guns and revolvers. The posse surrounded them and a pitched battle followed. J. T. Wilson, Alderman of Atlanta, was fatally injured, and William Bentley, one of the robbers, is dying. All the gang are arrested except two, Robert Ben ley and Kagle Lethrow. It is believed they are the parties who wrecked the Alabama Great Southern train near Springville.

SOUTHERN SCHOOL HISTORY. The Charleston News and Courier is calling for a southern school history of the war.

It is a want felt in Alabama as well as in South Carolina, but while every other section of the literary field is crowded with workers and adventurers, this particular one seems to be avoided. Why is this? Why do not our authors write this book for which the southern people are clamoring and thousands of copies of which they are ready to buy as soon as issued from the press? What is the matter with our historians?

KELPS ACCOUNTS.

The State Examiner Makes His Report. MONTGOMERY, April 29.—The long expected and much talked of report of Examiner Reeves of the accounts of the commissioner of agriculture was filed with the governor.

The law makes such reports public documents, but the governor withheld the document from the public to allow the commissioner to first examine and explain or comment, if he so desired.

This report is made at the commissioner's own request, owing to certain charges preferred against him during last year's heated campaign. The commissioner is absent, and on after his return, in a few days the report will be made public.

Mortgage Debts.

The statistics of Alabama mortgages compiled by the census bureau ought to greatly encourage every citizen of the State. Especially have the farmers good ground for self-congratulations. Taking the State as a whole, the per capita debt is only $28, while here in Jefferson county the per capita is only $167.

Again, out of a total mortgage debt of over $39,000,000, the town people owe more than $10,000,000 of it on their lots.

More than that, the counties where industrial enterprises are being built and operated, carry the great bulk of the balance. Dallas county, for instance, owes only $682,755 on mortgages, while Jefferson owes $15,000,000.

The total mortgages on all the farms of Alabama is not $10,000,000, less than that of this single county. Yet the value of the products of the farms is more than five times that of all our coal and iron and manufacturing. The farmers are in splendid shape if only they knew it.

Besides that, we have the comfortable assurance in this state of facts, that debts, even mortgage debts, are not necessarily bad things. If the money has been judiciously expended in such investments and improvements as will bring in greater returns than the interest account, debt is a good thing. Birmingham, Jefferson county, all North Alabama, in fact, has been developed and built up and made great and rich and prosperous by that very process. In borrowing $15,000,000, and making improvements with it, this county has pursued the only course open to her. As long as these improvements can be made to pay more than the interest on the money, it will pay her to keep on borrowing and investing.

And the same principle applies on the farm. If you mortgage your farm for $1000 and spend the money it is a bad thing, for it saddles you on an interest account of say $100 per annum. But if you use the $1000 in making such improvements as will increase your income by $200, you are making $100 per annum by the operation.

It's always best to have one's own money to improve with, but if one hasn't got it, we don't see but that it's a good thing to borrow it. We do not consider that Alabama is in a bad fix because she owes $39,000,000 of mortgage debts. If all this borrowed money has been as judiciously invested as the $15,000,000 here in Jefferson, it is a very great advantage.—Birmingham Age Herald.

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we can not cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

COMMISSIONER KOLB'S ACCOUNTS.

The report of the State Examiner of Accounts, upon the books and accounts of Commissioner Kolb has been published.

The examination was made at the request of Commissioner Kolb. The work has been well and faithfully done and if Commissioner Kolb is not satisfied with the result it is his misfortune rather than the fault of the Examiner. After the report was made, Governor Jones, in a spirit of courtesy to Mr. Kolb, withheld it from publication until he could examine it and explain it. After keeping it a few days the Commissioner returned it to the Governor without any attempt to refute any of the facts set forth in the report and with the declaration that he would appeal his case to the people. So the matter stands thus:

Mr. Kolb asked Gov. Jones to have his accounts examined by the State Examiner.

Gov. Jones complied and when the report was made showed Mr. Kolb the utmost courtesy in offering to let his explanation go along with the report. Mr. Kolb, naturally, is not satisfied with the report and repays the courtesy of the Gov. by virtually saying to him that he will run against him for Governor and thus appeal his case to the people.

The facts of the report show a loose method of business in the agricultural department. It shows many guano tags burned or claimed to be burned without proper certification or witness of the fact.

It shows, after giving the Commissioner credit for all the guano tags claimed to have been burned that there are something over five thousand tags unaccounted for.

It shows neglect to turn over to the agricultural fund some money (small amounts) received for registration of land and for guano license.

It shows that the Commissioner made numerous trips over railroad on which he used free passes and that he charged his fare for such trips to the State.

This is the case the honest man of the people of Alabama will be called on to try. We have the most confidence to believe that the will do right and that Mr. Kolb will be as little satisfied with their verdict as he is with the sworn report of the State Examiner of accounts.

The picnic for the school children at Cedarhurst park, Tuesday, was the most enjoyable affair of the kind ever had in Jacksonville. Almost the entire townpeople attended.

The program was varied, the dinner was exquisite and the fun was immense. There was croquet for the girls, races and jumping matches for the big boys, races and orange eating contests for the little boys and a greased pig catch for all. Prizes were distributed in each contest. In the evening the older people caught the infection and they were soon romping as wildly as the children and playing "Johnny Brown" (with the kissing left out) with all the zest and animation of youth.

For one evening we were all children again, free from the cares of life and happy; but many of us paid the forfeit for unwonted physical exercise next day in aching joints and fevered brows.

So good was this picnic that another has been determined upon about a month hence, this to be given by the old people with the children as invited guests.

Mr. James Findley, near Bruver in this county, was shot accidentally Saturday May 2nd by a Mr. Hammett. It appears that Hammett mistook him for a turkey and fired upon him with serious but not fatal effect. Mr. Findley was doing well at last accounts. People should remember that it is unlawful to hunt game after the 15th of April. If this fact had been duly regarded the unfortunate shooting would not have occurred.

Wheat farmers of the West are trying to make a corner on wheat and force the price to $1.25 per bushel. If they succeed, it will mean higher breadstuffs to the farmers of the South. If these men could get the assistance of the government in forming a food trust they would send provisions sky-high and bankrupt Southern farmers in one season.

Rev. J. G. Patton, of Orlando, Fla. will preach the Commencement Sermon of the Normal School on Sunday, June 7th in the Presbyterian church.

Rev. Geo. B. Eager, of Anniston will deliver the annual address to the school and Alumni Association to be formed then on Tuesday evening June 9th.

There are many Alliancemen in the Florida legislature who deny the right of subordinate or county Alliancemen to instruct them how they shall vote for a United States senator, as the constitution of the order confers no such power, they say.

THE FARMER'S FRIEND.

SYNOPSIS OF SENATOR GEORGE'S SPEECH AT STARKVILLE.

Where Alone Relief May Be Found—How Republican System of Government Bears Hardest Upon the Land Owners.

At Starkville, Miss., a few days ago, Senator George was introduced in a short speech by S. D. Lee, President of Agricultural and Mechanical College, in which he sketched the political record of the Senator, calling special attention to what he had done, and tried to do, for the farmers of Mississippi, and emphasized the fact that he was the farmer's friend.

Senator George opened by saying: "When the farmer question came up, I took that side, because I am a farmer, my children are farmers, and the great majority of the people of Mississippi are farmers. Thirty millions of acres of land have been appropriated by Congress to railroad corporations since the Republican party have been in the power, to enrich the few and distress the many, in the interest of that party. Prior to 1861 the number of millionaires could be counted on four fingers, and we had no paupers. To-day we have thousands of unemployed laborers clamoring for sufficient employment to obtain the actual necessities of life, and the millionaires are numerous, and the wealth of many of them is estimated at more than the value of the entire property of the great State of Mississippi. Twenty-five thousand of these millionaires own half the wealth of the United States, gotten by the robbery of the great mass of the people throughout and under the forms of iniquitous laws, made by the Republican party, tending to concentrate the wealth of the great mass of the people in the hands of a few.

GOVERNMENT CAN'T CREATE WEALTH. But by questionable laws it can transfer wealth from the many to the few. Whatever comes from the Treasury must first be put into it by the people, when money accumulates in the National Treasury in the form of a great surplus, it can't be transferred from the masses to the few by reckless and unwarranted appropriations, as has just been done by the infamous Republican Congress which, thank God, expired on the third of March.

If anyone thinks that Congress can make the people rich by enacting laws for the purpose of creating wealth, let him dismiss this delusion from his mind for it is a delusion of those who advocate such fallacious doctrines. The close of the war found us with our property destroyed; many of us had nothing but lone chimneys standing as monuments to a fearful internecine war. And men, in whose veins coursed Anglo-Saxon blood, the same as ours, in ours, instead of rendering assistance placed the feet of our slaves upon our necks and sent a horde of adventurers and bunimbers to despoil us of our birthright. The history of the last twenty-nine years shows that misadministration of this government has never been exceeded by any government on earth, and that this spoliation has been in the interest of the few.

Has the farmer failed to drive his plow? Has the laborer failed to perform his work? Has there been a pestilence? Has there been a rain of brimstone and fire, such as consumed Sodom and Gomorrah? No, thousands times no. Then, whence comes all this distress, this great cry of all the people for relief? It comes of abominable laws made by this iniquitous Republican party in the interest of the few to despoil the many.

From 1850 to 1890 there was greater advancement, greater reward for labor than at any time in the history of the country. That decade was guided by Democratic principles and politics. In 1890 the population was about thirty millions.

The appropriations were about sixty millions or about two dollars per head.

Now the tariff averages about 50 or 60 per cent., and the appropriations amount up into the billions with a population of only about double of what we had in 1890.

The excess over and above what should run the government on an economic basis goes into the pockets of the favored few. Labor creates all wealth, and still the farmers and laborers are gradually reduced to poverty, the laws but increase the spoliation and render more effectual the plunderage.

If the property had been burned we could perhaps have stood it better, for then it could not have been controlled by the few to enable them to oppress the many. This great CENTRALIZATION OF WEALTH has been used in evolving national institutions, such as national banks, and in fostering great corporations, thereby enabling selfish and covetous citizens to form trusts and combine for purpose of depressing the price of the farmer's products and labor of the country. I have always opposed all laws and all schemes for the centralization of wealth, and thereby creating millionaires.

Yet the word has gone forth that I am not in touch with the people, and it is said that I am not in sympathy with the men, women and children with whom I have been associated from my childhood. I have always been in sympathy with the farmers of Mississippi. I have devoted the best years of my life to what I thought was to the best interest of my people.

I think I could say with Ruth, without vanity or sacrifice, that "Thy people are my people, thy God is my God, and where thou diest I will die, and where thou art buried I will be buried." Yet the Alliance prescribes what you must take, and insists that I must swallow the same pill, whether it is sugar-coated or not. Men assemble in secret counsel and formulate laws to be passed by Congress, without their having first been discussed in an open, manly way before the people, to ascertain whether they are good or evil.

And now after having retired to my studio, and having given this sub-treasury bill the closest study that I could bestow upon it, I am free to tell you that it is of the South. Think of the vast warehouses to be established, with the immense number of managers, clerks and servants to be foisted on the farmer by the government, to eat out the substance of the people, and in times of great political excitement to be converted into political hummers. Besides, where is the good sense in depositing your product in a warehouse, and getting 80 per cent. of its value, when you can place it upon the market and sell it for its full value? After one year of this kind of experience, if the farmer escapes the squeeze, he will wish he had never heard of a warehouse.

Here he read an extract from some Alliance literature, claiming that cotton always advanced in the spring. He then read from some cotton statistics sent him by this commission merchant, which showed that cotton fluctuated differently in different years and different months of the year, and he learned that the foundation of the Alliance writer's magnificent structure was a delusion and a sham.

It is claimed, he said, that there is an invariable gorge in the cotton market in the fall and winter months, and a corresponding fall in the price, and that there is an invariable rise in the market in the spring and summer months. I have already shown that this is fallacy, that the market fluctuates as much in the fall and winter as it does in the spring and summer. I have been here two or three days, and I have occasionally seen a farmer come in town with his cotton to take advantage of the invariable rise in the market and to get the benefit of the advance in the price, but did it come? Not by any means. Beside he has laid out the use of his money for the last four or five months, when it might have been, or should have been, used in some way to bring an income, or loaned to his neighboring friend to relieve his financial distress.

But, for holding these views and contending that the sub-treasury bill is fraud and a sham, it is charged that I am not in touch with the people. Is this a time, when your Senator, whom you have chosen for your protection on account of his courage and firmness of purpose, should violate his oath of office and vote contrary to his honest convictions? Is it possible that you expect him to flinch from his post of duty at the first approach of the storm? Do you expect him to flee at the advance of the skirmish line and not wait for the main battle? If you do you have misjudged the man, and should I do so I would deem myself unworthy of the trust and confidence of the great State of Mississippi.

When Dr. Macine advanced with a flourish of trumpets, "like the assistants of Jericho," with

THIS AMAZING FRAUD AND SHAM, the sub-treasury bill, in his hand; did you expect me to turn pale and crouch and tremble like a whipped Spaniel; or did you expect me to stand up like a man and say to the learned doctor—who does his farming in his library—I will look into this matter and investigate it and see whether it will be for the good of my people or not. And after having patiently investigated it, and standing here to-day in the presence of my constituents, I say to you in my opinion that the sub-treasury bill is a sham and a fraud, and that its enactment into a law would entail untold misery and distress upon this people?

Dr. Macine, when before the committee, said it would take one billion of dollars to put the provisions of the bill in operation. That would be one thousand millions of dollars to be paid out of the National Treasury in the months of January and February, to be returned in July and August. Then, if it be true that inflation increases prices and contraction decreases prices, what will be your condition in September and October, just at the opening of the October market.

I have always favored anything that would lighten the burdens of the farmers, but in my humble judgment, the sub-treasury bill will not lighten but increase them. Prices are regulated in the market of world by the laws of supply and demand; and if you withhold one crop of cotton from the market until the near approach of the maturity of another, you will dump a double crop upon the market, at one time and depress the market, which would prove disastrous to the farmers of the South, and that would be the exact result that would follow if the terms of this sub-treasury bill were carried into effect.

You hear the cry now that we have an over-production of cotton. If you cannot force eight or nine millions of bales of cotton on the commercial world, what would be your condition with sixteen or eighteen millions of bales thrown upon the market at one time? I think that the farmer that would then undertake to wait for the rise in the market would be "in a sea of trouble," and like Robinson Crusoe, on his lonely island, waiting out, will the ship never come? Will the ship never come?

I tell you, gentlemen, the laws of trade are eternal, and when you try to twist and turn and bind them you undertake an impossibility. The senator then closed with thanks for kind and patient attention.

SEVERAL LIVES LOST

In a Terrible Explosion of the British Steamer Tancerville. LONDON, May 13.—A terrible explosion occurred in the forehold of the British steamer Tancerville, Captain Carter, undergoing repairs in the dry dock at Newport. Several men at work on the steamer were killed and a number injured. The steamer was badly damaged by the explosion. The Tancerville is a tank steamer engaged in carrying oil in bulk from American ports, and her last voyage was from Philadelphia for Harve. After reaching the latter port and discharging was proceeding to Newport, where she was to load for Baltimore. There is no doubt the explosion was caused by gases that prevail to a greater or less extent in the holds of all oil carrying ships.

A large force of the explosion was so great that the forehold was torn from its fastenings and blown off. As the steamer was out of the water there was no pressure on the hull to contain the tremendous outward strain exerted by the explosion, and it is reported that some of the plates on the bottom of the Tancerville were blown from their bolts. The wood work of the forehold and the tremendous outward strain exerted by the explosion, and it is reported that some of the plates on the bottom of the Tancerville were blown from their bolts. The wood work of the forehold and the tremendous outward strain exerted by the explosion, and it is reported that some of the plates on the bottom of the Tancerville were blown from their bolts.

The repairs which were being made to the steamer were quite extensive, and 100 men and boys were employed in and around the vessel when the explosion occurred. Large pieces of timber and iron from the steamer were blown with terrific force through the air, and some of them were hurled against the work shops, which were situated fifty yards from the dry dock in which the Tancerville was lying, causing much damage to them. A number of workmen employed in the shops were struck by pieces of iron, and several of them were quite severely injured.

CINCINNATI WOMEN

Clean the Streets and the Aldermen Take the Hint. CINCINNATI, May 13.—Complaints against the street cleaning department of this city have been both numerous and loud the last year. Recently affairs reached a crisis at Wade street, and the women who reside on that thoroughfare resolved to act. Mrs. Taphorn appeared on the curb and stepped into the street waving a broom. It was a signal, and instantly for women and children swarmed out with brooms, hoses, rakes and wheelbarrows. Soon the air was full of dust and the work was pushed vigorously. In thirty minutes the work was done, and the women were waving their brooms in triumph. In an hour all was ready for the city cart. Not satisfied with cleaning the street, the women took a hand in the gutters. Later in the day the board of aldermen appropriated $10,000 for special street cleaning purposes.

THE M'CAITHY PARTY.

They Resolve to Call a Convention in Ireland. LONDON, May 13.—As a result of the conference held here of members of parliament forming the McCarthys party, it was resolved to call a convention in Ireland. A resolution was adopted to the effect that since Parnell has refused to comply with the suggestions as to releasing the Paris funds, his colleagues are forced to believe that he is opposed to applying those funds to the relief of evicted tenants. Therefore, in view of the extreme urgency of the case and of the approach of the general election, it has been resolved to make an appeal to Ireland in behalf of the evicted tenants. The resolution adds:

Whereby we summon a convention in every Irish county to meet as a committee to select candidates for all seats whose present holders have violated the party pledge.

WORKMEN FIGHT.

A Terrible Battle Between Strikers and a Gang of Negroes. DENVER, Colo., May 13.—A terrible fight took place between a party of striking brickmakers and a gang of colored men, who had been engaged by F. N. Jones, proprietor of the brickyard, to take their places. Davis, his son and several negroes all heavily armed, were going to work when they were interrupted by a band of strikers and ordered back. Davis warned the strikers to get out of the way. The latter refused, and Davis and his men opened fire. Two of the strikers are mortally wounded and sixteen others are less hurt. The Davis party were all arrested. Davis says the strikers had guns, but the latter deny it.

ITALIAN CONSUL RECALLED.

Signor Corte, Consul at New Orleans, Notified to Return. ROME, May 13.—The Italian consul at New Orleans, Signor Corte, has been notified to return home in order to furnish the Italian government with an exact account of events which have taken place since the murder of Chief of Police Hennessy. Vice Consul Poma, of the Italian consulate in New York, will act for Signor Corte in the interim.

GLADSTONE III.

LONDON, May 13.—Mr. Gladstone is the latest of Great Britain to be announced on the sick list. Mr. Gladstone went to church as usual in the morning and seemed to be enjoying his usual health. In the afternoon, however, the veteran statesman was seized with a succession of shivering fits. Mrs. Gladstone, accompanied at the syndicate, sent for Sir Andrew Clark, Gladstone's family physician. The latter, though not pronouncing Mr. Gladstone's illness to be of a serious nature, declares that Mr. Gladstone must not leave his room for several weeks.

It is estimated officially that the gross expenses of the World's Fair will reach $21,500,000.

CONDENSED DISPATCHES.

News in Brief Gathered from all Over the World. PORTER, our minister to Italy, is to return home. Mark Twain is going to Europe to reside several years. Newark, O., has voted to issue $30,000 in bonds for municipal hall.

Gen. Ben Butler claims that he broke "the backbone of the rebellion." Gardens are almost burning up in the vicinity of Atlanta. Zeas is needed.

It is understood that Mr. Ingalls will not extend his lecture tour into Kansas. The Boston Pilot advises the Parnell envoys to return. The advice is sound.

The price of Wales is not worried about his $1,500,000 indebtedness. His creditors do the worrying. The output of whisky last year was 120,000,000 gallons and the transactions in whisky are by no means confined to the United States.

Dr. Bartlett, of Bedford, Ky., father-in-law of State Senator McCain, died from the effects of an attack of the grip. He was 92 years old. Lock Ezell, a United States marshal, was waylaid and killed near Russellville. It is supposed to have been the work of moonshiners.

The Massachusetts state board of health reports seventeen deaths from hydrophobia the past year, the highest number ever recorded. General Miles has returned from his trip to Mexico. He reports that the Apaches are now peaceable and devoting themselves to agriculture.

The funeral ceremonies over the remains of the late Prince Chun, father of the emperor of China, began on January 19, and are still going on. W. A. Wilson, of the Chester, S. C., police force, was fatally shot by Fred Burcham, a saloon keeper. An arrest made by Wilson followed Burcham.

By the two forgeries brought to light in Charlotte, N. C., the Merchants' national bank of Jacksonville loses $4,038, and the State bank of Florida $350. Jeremiah George Harris, who died in Tennessee the other day at the age of 82, was quite prominent forty years ago as a naval officer, statesman and journalist.

With Salisbury, Radini and the Italian affair on his hands, to say nothing of reciprocity treaties, there is every reason to believe that Blaine is earning his salary. Paul Holz, the boy who cut his sleeping car through the throat, has been found guilty of murder in Chicago. His punishment was fixed at fourteen years in the penitentiary.

Rev. Sam Small has done quite right in resigning the presidency of that New England college, which is clearly a long time to that class about a college that is "agin" the faculty. At a meeting held at Brazil, Ind., the block coal miners resolved to return to work and also to accept pay semi-monthly. This will probably force the bituminous miners back to work.

The 32nd which have been presented to us in Utah politics and commercial metropolis of the territory of Utah have been very full of beauty and full of hope. I have not seen in all this long journey, accompanied as I have been with every manifestation of welcome and crowned with flowers, anything that touched my heart more than that beautiful picture on one of your streets this morning when the children from the free public schools of Salt Lake City, waving the banner that we all love [cheers], singing an anthem of praise to that beneficent Providence that led our worthy forefathers to this land, and has followed the pathway of this nation with His beneficent care until this bright hour gave us their glad welcome. BURNING FOREST FIRES.

Great Destruction Reported and the Fire Yet Raging. HARRISON, Mich., May 12.—The forest fires in this section are worse than ever, with a heavy southwest wind blowing. The ground is burning over the second time in many places.

Fears are entertained that the fire will reach the town of Merdith in Clay county. Tail township, in Isosco county, is also in danger.

The flames swept into Oscoda and burned out $300,000 worth of property. Two houses and 7,000,000 feet of lumber were burned.

Great apprehension is felt at Ansbare. An appeal for help has been sent to Alpena. It is feared that the city will be swept away if the wind shifts. Millions of acres of pine are burning. Additional reports now coming in show that a widespread district is devastated.

The Lake Was Never Known. DETROIT, May 12.—A fire is raging in the upper central counties of the lower peninsula, the like of which has never been known. The line of flames reaches almost without a break from Mason county, on Lake Michigan, to Isosco county, on Lake Huron, with the forests of Lake Oscoda, Chase, Gladwin, Ogemaw and Alcona, where General Alger owns large interests, all ablaze.

Another fire of scarcely less magnitude exists in the upper peninsula, the incline of the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic bridges, from Marquette, Houghton, Baraga and Ontonagon counties. Reports from Marquette, Mich., say that forest fires are burning all over the copper country. At the Oscoda, Stump mill several cords of wood and the railroad trestle were burned. At Chassell several farm houses and barns went up in smoke and a bridge was consumed.

The Sturgeon River, near Westport, and the Duluth Match company loss heavily. Lake Superior, from Marquette to Keweenaw Point, is fairly black with smoke, and all the fog whistles are kept blowing constantly. The loss will be very heavy.

At Tawas, on the east shore, the air has been thick with smoke from the immense forest fires which are raging in the woods back of the town, and which are said to extend clear to the county line. The village of Taft, in Roseton township, is said to be surrounded by fire, but no word can be obtained from here.

Isosco is surrounded by fire, but there is no longer to the town. There is mile after mile of fire along the road bed of the Chicago and Northwestern railroad, south of Isosco and nearly to the Duluth, South Shore and Atlantic bridges, and traffic will be suspended until it can be repaired. The fires are being driven directly toward Oscoda by half a gale from the west.

A MODERN PROPHET.

Sherman and His Disciples and Their Gayer, Bellet.
Jonesboro, Ga. May 16.—About two years ago an account was published of the queer belief of one Sherman, who at that time lived in the mountainous region of Alabama. This same Sherman is now living near Jonesboro, and he is certainly a queer character. "He claims that he is the only true disciple of Jesus Christ, and that when his days on earth are ended, he expects to go straight to heaven in the flesh, as Enoch did." He has but three professed followers near here, who are making no calculations whatsoever to sleep in the grave. "The
Mr. Sherman, as may be imagined, has no opinion of the value of money, and hates churches of all denominations, and says that his church is the field of the woods, and its dome is the sky. He very much respects he resembles the famous man who lived in the mountains of diet, wearing the coarsest clothes, and sermon in the woods, and says, he is thereby imitating the example of Christ. He recently gathered his several disciples around him, and preached a sermon for their special benefit, although many outsiders were attracted to the scene by his queer preaching.

ceived at the department in cipher from Admiral Brown, on board the cruiser Albatross, at the mouth of the Amazon. Information as to its contents was refused at the department, further than that it was an answer from the admiralty to instructions given him last week by the president. This is an extraordinary event of the failure of the Charleston to catch the Itata, the latter vessel will not have escaped all danger, and will still have to run the gauntlet of United States vessels now on the Chilean coast.

IT MAY BE A PANTHER.

The Strange Animal Doing Destruction
Near Greensboro, Georgia.

GREENSBORO, Ga., May 16.—Report says that a strange animal has been seen and heard in the upper portion of the Fork recently. From the description, the people think it must be a panther. They have been known to wander off from the mountains.

The citizens in the Fork are much stirred up over the unknown animal. Those who have caught glimpses of it declare it to be of monster size, with bright stripes, and very ferocious. Its presence has had the effect of stopping night travel, to a large extent and few will venture on the highways after dark unless they are armed and protected.

It is said that the animal has killed whatever it may be, has had a full sweep at the chickens and poultry, and has done immense destruction to young pigs and lambs. A great hunt for it is being made, but so far no one has seen the people say they mean to kill it.

A MEAN ACT.

Some Person Perpetrated a Low Down Job on a Lodge.

ATLANTA, May 16.—Some unknown person or persons entered the property room of the Myrtle lodge of Odd Fellows by means of a hatchet, and did great deal of damage.

tered all about the floor of the room. The lodger and other books, showing the standing of the members, were completely destroyed. Books of the greatest value, containing information about the lodge and records of importance, were also torn to pieces.

The guilty party is not known, but it is supposed that it was some one who is familiar with the rooms of the lodge and beers, some malice towards the members thereof.

WHAT A GEORGIA LADY DID.

Commands Her Husband.

MONTICELLO, Ga., May 16.—A lady drove up to Round Oak in a buggy a few days ago with a great big pistol in her lap. She wore a smile on her face as she bowed and spoke to her friends, and everyone wondered what the pistol was for.

meanwhile, when the morning train arrived, her husband stepped from the train and after placing a lot of bundles in the buggy, she marched him into one of the stores and ordered materials for a number of dresses. She then made her husband march out with the bundles, to the great amusement of the crowd.

Six Hundred from Kansas.

Alliance estimate that about 600 delegates from Kansas will attend the Cincinnati conference. The Farmers' Alliance will send between 250 and 300; the Citizens' Alliance 100 or more; and the other interested and kindred organizations will furnish the remainder.

CLEBURNE.

A PLEASANT WEEK'S OUTING.

Pursuit of the Coy Trout in the Tallapoosa—A Look at the Gold Fields Etc.

When Col. Ellis invited me to go fishing with him in the clear waters of the Tallapoosa I was surprised to find that I was not the only one to be surprised. Nearly everybody else of my acquaintance had, at one time or another, formed designs upon the finny tribe; but he had never even been suspected of that amiable weakness.

So we two went, meeting Mr. Winco Smith, of Anniston, at Oxanna, who made the third member of the party which was to be further augmented at Edwardsville. Col. Ellis had arranged all the details and the fish of the beautiful Tallapoosa were in imminent danger. But the Edwardsville contingent could not go on the day after our arrival and a trip to the Arbacoochee gold fields was arranged for three days later. It was agreed that our Edwardsville friends in force should meet us at Bell's Mills the day thereafter. The evening was most pleasantly spent in Edwardsville, the county town. This place has very greatly improved of late years. Much building has been done and a considerable part of it is in solid brick blocks which would be a credit to any city. The same may be said of Heflin also, another important town of Cleburne, which is destined to be a place of great commercial importance. The spirit of progress is awake both in Heflin and Edwardsville and when Cleburne's resources shall have been developed, as they will be soon, both towns will take on a magical growth calculated to astonish the "oldest inhabitant."

Spending an evening and a night in Edwardsville a team was secured early next morning and our little party started for the famous gold fields of Cleburne, reaching Arbacoochee about noon. Getting dinner at the hotel of Mrs. Wheeler Mr. Wingo Smith and the writer set out at once for the scene of operations of the Arbacoochee Hydraulic works a few hundred yards from the hamlet of Arbacoochee. This company is composed of Ex-Gov. Smith, W. A. Searbro, W. G. Milligan, D. W. Neal, J. A. W. Smith and D. W. Vaughn. The company have on the ground a 60 horse power boiler and pump which forces the water to any desired part of the land through a seven inch wrought iron pipe. The water is forced from this through a one and one half inch nozzle with force enough almost to kill a man, if it should strike him, and under the hills melt away like snow banks before a scorching fire. Three men with this appliance can remove more earth in a day than a hundred men could by other methods. I was struck with the fact that this hydraulic process could be well employed in iron ore mining at Jacksonville. It leaves the boulders clean and entirely separated from the earth. Here we have an abundance of water at the mines and under this system the foot hills of our mountains could be soon leveled with the plains and their immense hidden treasure thus revealed. It is inexpensive too as compared with the system now employed in taking out iron ore.

The Arbacoochee company referred to above are at present washing over old dirt once before worked by a cruder method in order to prepare the way for the passage of water and drift from their workings in virgin soil higher up the hill; but even this dirt pays and when that part of the land never before washed (because of the difficulty of getting water to it) is reached I think it will pay handsomely. While at this mine Mr. Wingo Smith went into one of the sluices and took out a pan of the sand and gravel and we went to the branch near by and washed it, and right there I came near catching the gold fever. It was very pleasant to watch the dirt disappear in the shape of muddy water leaving the shining particles of gold at the bottom of the pan. One little nugget of gold weighing half a pennyweight was found, which he very gallantly gave to the little daughter of our hostess for the heading of a scarf pin. Miss Bossie Wheeler is her name and she is a veritable flower in the wildwood. Here among these bustling men, in this sort of a place, where the pure gold glistens in the sands before the greedy eyes of men as they walk, this little girl is engaged into a brave struggle to improve her mind, under most depressing physical difficulties, for her eyesight is greatly impaired, heedless of the struggle around her, dreaming of pure and lofty things and writing her verses. Very tender and pure they are too. I read some of them and found that, while the scholar might pick some flaws in the versification, he would have to do homage to the gentle spirit that inspired them. Arbacoochee furnishes another unique character in old man Hendrick who "goes it alone" in the mines. He has thrown a dam across a little mill not bigger than a man's wrist and thus secures a few barrels of water in which he washes the earth he digs up with most primitive implements. A dilapidated pick and a broken shovel constitute his outfit, but he pans out sometimes ten cents and sometimes one dollar a day. In either event he is happy. He don't want the earth. He is one of the old timers and tells some famous tales of these gold diggings. He promised to come to the hotel and talk to me, but for some reason he was kept away and I missed seeing him. Returning to the town Mr. Smith and I took another pan full of earth from one of the streets and washed it at a mill and got quite a show of the shining gold. I may say in passing that the gold of this country is much finer than that of California or elsewhere, there being a difference of from three to four dollars per ounce in favor of the Arbacoochee gold.

The town of Arbacoochee is located on the richest portion of the Arbacoochee district and it would pay handsomely to remove and rebuild the houses for the washings of the town site. Gold was first discovered in this district a few miles east of the town of Arbacoochee in 1844. From 1845 to 1849 there were from four to five thousand people at Arbacoochee engaged in washing the branch and creek bottoms and the soil on the hills as high as they could get water. This large population remained here making money until withdrawn by the great California gold excitement. Fortunes were made in these diggings, the records at the U. S. mint at Washington showing that over two million dollars of gold were coined from the gold dust sent from Arbacoochee. The old placer washings, covering two miles in length and one half mile in width show the great amount of work done here. This work was done by shovels and picks and rockers and "long Tom's," a very expensive process, but even by this crude process miners did not think they were prospering unless they were making five dollars a day and upwards. Numerous rich pockets were found where several thousand dollars would be taken out in a few hours. The most famous of these was the Marable pit in the "big bottom" from which he took in one day eleven pounds of gold. He was a Jacksonville man and like most Jacksonville men "knew when he had enough." He quit the business and never thereafter during life struck a lick of work. Jerry Murphy, of Wedowee, an old miner of those days used to say that in this rich bottom he took out $100 a day to the hand. About two years ago on the same property but on the upland a man named Reeves found a pocket and took out within thirty days, with two hands, about eight thousand pennyweights of gold worth one dollar to the pennyweight. These rich pockets were found upon the West half of section 6, township 17, range 11 now owned by J. W. Houston, Chas. M. Harper, Wm. Noble, E. G. Roberts and others. They have as yet made no provision to work it. The east half of this same section is in litigation. On section 5 of the same township and range numerous rich deposits have been found and the largest nugget ever found at Arbacoochee was found on this land. It brought $350. This is the section now operated upon by the Arbacoochee Hydraulic Co., referred to above and is that part of the gold field I visited on the day of arrival at Arbacoochee. In this Arbacoochee district the veins have never been worked, and have been prospected but little. A year or two ago, however, on section five, Mr. Houston cut a shaft 22 feet deep and took out a few tons of ore from a vein 12 inches thick which yielded from $50 to $100 a ton. Another large vein has been discovered on this property, yielding $20 per ton but it has never been mined. The great need here is capital. When that is forthcoming, I think this country will boom to a surprising extent.

The Anna-Hove property consists of four hundred and fifty acres of land two miles east of Arbacoochee, and was purchased by the company of that name about two and a half years ago from Mr. J. W. Houston and the heirs of the late Mark Pinson. It has long been considered one of the richest prospects in the district. There are several auriferous leads running longitudinally through the property—and two of them were worked out down to water-level thirty-five years ago, the quartz taken out being crushed in rude stamp-mills, run by horse power, or reduced by still cruder processes in hand mortars and old-fashioned "arrastres." The ore above water-level was "free-milling" and was rich enough to pay even with the clumsy devices for extracting the gold of those days. The dip of these measures is about 45 degrees (from horizontal plane) to the southeast and the "strike" or trend is from southwest to northeast, with slight local deflections and variations. The character of the "gauge"—or material carrying the gold—is a fine-textured quartzite and the auriferous leads, or veins, are found separating solid masses of green talcose slate, which forms what is miners' parlance is known as the "country rock." The gold-bearing veins are from eight inches to two feet in thickness, and by actual mill-test carry from $12 to $20 per ton of ore in free gold, besides containing, below the water-line perhaps as much more of the precious metal in so-called chemical combination with iron pyrites—(sulphide of iron.) This pyritic condition of these leads below the water level is not singular to this property, nor to this district, but is common to nearly all gold bearing measures, as gold is generally found associated with iron pyrites, which being protected below the water line from the oxidizing influences of the atmosphere, do not set the minute grains of gold free by disintegration, as is the case above the line of water. The "base" or sulphuretted ores are now treated very successfully by chlorination and other cheap processes, whereas until within recent years they were deemed of little value. Besides the gold contained in the sulphurets, there is much free gold diffused throughout the ore and Mr. Lewis, the gentleman who now has charge of the Anna-Hove property, on a recent mill test, found that the amount of free gold in the ore ran considerably above $10 to the ton.

About four miles east of Arbacoochee Mr. J. W. Houston has a small mill in operation on a large vein which carries three dollars a ton. The expense of mining this vein is one dollar a ton.

At Pinetuck, in Randolph county on the boundary line of Cleburne, is a steam mill with all the latest gold saving machinery, which will be in operation in a few days. Here is a gold-bearing quartz from eight inches to three feet thick. A car load of it, taken from the length of the vein, and recently shipped to Chicago, yielded $28 per ton, besides iron pyrites saved in concentrated form, which yielded $66 of gold per ton of concentrated pyrites. They have out now about 100 tons of ore ready for the mill. The Pinetuck Gold Mining Co., operate this mine. Mr. M. M. Avery, the President is an Illinois man. Mr. Driesbach, an experienced miner from the West, is mining superintendent. Mr. Jas. B. Merrill and others of Edwardsville are largely interested in this property. A town site has been laid out here. In the vicinity of Pinetuck is the largest deposits of kaolin, mica and feldspar in the United States. Eastern capitalists associated with Birmingham parties have recently made large purchases in this vicinity. They have already paid out $30,000 in cash and have options on a large amount of land. This property is on a direct line from Anniston or Jacksonville or Heflin to Bonoke, and a railroad will be built at no distant day from one of these points to Bonoke. The very finest china-ware has been made from this kaolin.

Still another gold mine is the Mossback, which is situated one mile north of the famous Wood or Stone Hill copper mine. There is a large stamp mill on this property, but this mine is not being worked now.

In the vicinity of this mine there are numerous veins of quartzose containing from $3 to $15 in gold to the ton, besides carrying a small quantity of silver. The difficulty in mining this ore has been in separating the gold from the copper pyrites contained in the same ore. The Cleburne County Mining Company, in which Jacksonville people are interested, have property within a mile of this place and gold has been found on it. The Wood, the Hightower and the Johnson copper mines are all in a mile and a half of the Mossback. The copper is found in the form of pyrites, (the oxides and carbonates having been exhausted) and is difficult to reduce to metallic copper, so much so that work has been suspended. However, with railroad facilities, each of these mines would be very valuable for the purpose of making sulphuric acid for the manufacture of commercial fertilizers, large quantities of the ore containing 30 per cent. of sulphur. The copper, nickel and silver in the ore could then be saved as a by product.

Several miles northeast of this section is the property of the Jacksonville Mining Company. This land was entered 40 years ago by Jacksonville parties for copper. Numerous leads of fine iron ore run throughout this entire section, including some magnetic and mangiferous ores, containing as high as 7 per cent. of manganese. The iron development of this district is destined to be large.

Six miles east of Mossback is Gold Ridge, in which considerable places and vein work has been done. This is owned by Messrs. Harper & Campbell, of Rome.

Near Bell's Mills, on the Tallapoosa river, fine gold indications abound on the land of Mr. Thompson. He showed me some of it he had washed out. From the looks of things and all accounts he could wash out four or five dollars a day on his land, but Peter says he is generally too busy in his crops to pay any attention to it. Here some man of means might make a development that would pay. He will sell or lease.

What I have thus said of the mineral resources of Cleburne is incomplete, and does not do the county full justice. It is only such as came under my observation on a hurried trip and it is given to boom no interest, but with the hope of attracting attention to this naturally rich country.

Our attempt to catch fish at Bell's Mills was abortive. Col. Ellis could not be induced to go near the water after he had gone so far fish. The waters were low and clear, and he was wise not to try.

Near this place old members of the Tenth Alabama will be interested in knowing, still lives John D. Walker, of company C. He is a successful farmer and much respected, and of great influence in his vicinity as well as throughout the county. He extended a very kind invitation to our party to spend the night with him; but our bad luck at fishing through the day determined us to return to Edwardsville in the evening. Next morning we went down by back to Heflin, from which point at a late hour our party returned home minus even a good bite. But we had lots of fun and all agreed it was a good trip. We had been out nearly a week.

At Heflin I visited the nursery of Hon. W. U. Almon. It was much more extensive than I had expected to see. It covers several acres and he finds it very profitable, even when he so far undersells other dealers. He thoroughly understands his business and has very choice stocks. He says a recent advertisement in the REPUBLICAN brought him several good orders from Calhoun. Mr. Almon is secretary of the Cleburne County Alliance and is carrying the doctrine of his order into practical operation on his farm. As a result he is doing well.

People in Cleburne who may want fruit trees and grape vines should give this good and thrifty man preference over dealers in other states. His trees are already acclimated and will do better than those from a distance.

As I said in the first part of this letter, Heflin is flourishing like a green bay tree. Her business men are wide awake and the population are enterprising. They deserve success.

The Third Party.

The third party, has been born and its name is "Peoples Party." The Cincinnati convention opened with a song to the tune of "Old John Brown's body lies moulding in the ground" and closed with a song bidding farewell to the old parties to the air of "Good bye my lover, good bye." The negro was on hand and took up a collection. When it comes to a question of finance the colored brother is "thar or tharabouts." Fifteen hundred delegates were present and the resolution to go into a third party movement was adopted, only three delegates dissenting. The convention stole the platform of the Farmers Alliance bodily, and adopted it unanimously. Government control of the railroads and government loans on farm products and land at 2 per cent. are the prominent planks. A resolution was adopted favoring female suffrage. A prohibition plank in the platform was voted down. The old soldier was on hand also along with Sambo and secured the passage of a resolution favoring more liberal pension laws, and the usual fool Confederate soldier was there to get up and say he endorsed it, and then the beggar and fool embraced amid frantic applause. It was a very moving picture.

Mrs. Kate Weaver, wife of Mr. Richard Weaver, of Weaver's Station, died at her home Monday evening last of pneumonia. She was the daughter of Harrison Fleming, one of the early settlers of Calhoun county, who lived in Jacksonville over forty years, but who of late years resided at Weaver's Station. Mrs. Kate Weaver was born and reared in Jacksonville and here she had many dear friends who greatly mourn her death. She was of very gentle and lovable disposition. The husband and children and aged father and other relatives have the deep sympathy of this entire community.

Hon. W. J. Alexander recently bought out a livery man in Piedmont and Monday and Tuesday he was here to recruit his stock both in horses and vehicles. He bought three horses from Messrs. Wilkerson and Martin and one fine new carriage and four new buggies from the large stock of Porter, Martin & Co.

Mr. Bridges, living near the foot of the mountain on the White Plains road, had the misfortune to have his house and all its contents burned a few days ago. The people of Jacksonville contributed liberally to make up his losses.

The iron pipe from the mountain spring to the reservoir in Jacksonville has been relaid and the whole water works overhauled. The result is the town has a more plentiful supply of water now than ever before.

Mrs. Northcutt, an estimable lady living four miles north of Jacksonville died at the home of her grandfather Robt. McCain, Wednesday last.

Mr. Dave Smith, living 3 miles Southwest of Jacksonville, lost a son by death Saturday last. The young man died from relapse after a spell of measles.

Mr. Willis Benoit, a good and much respected old man living near Choctawhatchee, died the night of the 19th, after a protracted illness.

Hon. W. H. Barker, of Edwardsville, has invented and is manufacturing a wire fish basket which catches all in a stream. It is the best thing of the kind. Cost $8.50.

The old Republican is going to stand with the time-honored Democratic party on the platform enunciated by that party, to the "last day in the morning." No new party, with its paternalism, woman suffrage and pension steal for us.

RUFUS SANDERS POOLED WITH FIGURES

AND "COMES OUT" WAY DOWN AT THE LITTLE END OF THE HORN.

When the Whole Country Run to Cotton and the Old Man Gave the Poor House a Mighty Close Shave—Sallie Spolin's Sorrow—A Funny Story With Lots of Truth In It.

These days I am wanderin most too fur along into the vale of years, to make a full hand in the field, so I reads the papers tolerable constant. Every now and occasionally I see where some horny-handed son of a statesman talks out in meetin and tells the farmers to plant less cotton, and more corn and oats and hay and hogs and such like.

That sounds like good advice on first blush, and it is. But good advice aint goin to run the farm, or pay off the store account, or squash the mortgage. Its too blame plentiful like and cheap. Good advice is about the only thing in this vain and fleetin world that a poor man can git without payin for it. Anybody that wants to can just lay down and wallow in good advice free gratis for nothin.

The comin statesman can give you the figgers, plain as the nose on your face, and put you down in the middle of the big road that leads right on to the land of peace and plenty. But my notion is that when a farmer goes to foolin with figgers he is plantin his mudhooks on powerful slippery ground. The trouble is the figgers don't always come out like they went in. They may stack up in good shape at the start, and then go to pieces on the home stretch.

Seems to me like the fellows that's always advisin the farmers how to hold down the government and run their farms are wastin lots of breath and blowin in a heap of precious time, anyhow. The ways of the farmer is hard to find out. I have been runnin with em for three score years and a goin, and I don't know it all yet. But I am learnin all the time. I learns something mighty nigh every day. I have done been and learned one thing about the farmers, and that is that we most generally do pritty much as we blame please.

We may hold Bent meetin in the spring and build new platforms, and blaze the way for reforms and revolutions, and resolute and whereas till the evenin stars sing together. But then when the meetin adjourns and we go home to pitch the crops every feller plays his own hand, and plays it to win.

FOOLIN WITH FIGGERS.

I aint been foolin off way back late along in the seventies. I tried my hand one year and comes out way down at the little end of the horn. I figgered myself chinee deep in debt and give the Poor House a mighty close shave. Since that time I figgers shy of figgers, believin as I do that my luck runs in some other turn.

We was farmin then down in the River country and the general outlook was tolerable rosy. Money was easy, prices was runnin way down and the country was briffin up considerable all along the line.

There had been a heap of talk among the farmers along in the early spring months about cuttin down the cotton crop so as to thin out the supply, make the demand lively and squeeze the price way up in the fall. That was the schedule accordin to the general understandin, and after feelin around among the neighbors I settles down to thinkin that the farmers was all goin to come to taw, to the mark like men and stand shoulder to shoulder till the last darned foe retired.

One day I was plowin down in the lower field, breakin up the land the first time, and tryin to set my pegs and lay off my plans for the year. Along towards twelve I slowed up in a shady place, unhooked the traces and hunkered down to cool off and give the horses a breathin spell. Next thing I knowed I was thinkin and figgerin and schemin and plannin on the crop. I figgered and figgered, and the plow stood still in the furrow till Mother blowed the horn and I takes out for dinner. But my pegs was set and my plans for the year was all cut and dried. I figgers it out and makes up my mind to play the game this way:

"Everything is runnin to corn and oats and wheat and lay this year. Cotton is barred out as the short horse, with no takers. Now, it strikes me that the short horse is goin to win the race in straight heats. The country is goin to be loaded down with dead oodles of grain when the mild and mellow autumn comes. Cotton will be bringin 15 or 20 cents a pound, and folks will be burnin their corn for fire wood. Looks like everybody is down on cotton, but the world has got to have it as long as people wear clothes.

"Blamed if I aint for the under dog in the fight anyhow. Rufus Sanders you aint be a little fresh in spots, but you aint nobody's fool. It dont run in the Sanders family. You are runnin this farm for Mother and the baby. Play on the short horse. Plant cotton. You've got a dead open and shut game. Play it now for all there is in it. Plant cotton. Place your money where it will make a safe landin. Play for keeps. Plant cotton."

THE FAMILY CONSULTATION.

At dinner time I lets Mother into the game and told her all about it. My head was done set accordin to the figgers and I was goin to back my judgment agin the world, but I lowed I would feel some better if I knowed she was with me in the spirit, as well as the flesh. She put her dimpled chin down in her privy hands and listened, quiet and gentle like a 'mouse, while I put up the figgers and laid down the plans. She didn't toss her head, nor kick any, nor pull on the bit, but seems to me like she was jest a little skittish. She said it looked as if it might be a good thing, but she didn't fall in as quick and unanimous as I was countin on.

"You are the farmer and the general boss of this concern, Rufus," says she, "and you ought to know a heap better than me. But for all you know other folks may be thinkin the same way, and if everybody plants nothin but cotton, there'll be a general smashup in the fall. It may be a dead open and shut game, like you say, and then it may be reglar freeze out."

"But, mother," says I, "there's the figgers to show for themselves. They are plain enough for a fool, though blind drunk and a runnin, to read. We'll win the game. Its in the cards. Mother, its in the cards. Figgers can't lie."

"I'm bound to own up that it looks smooth and all right like you fix it up, but there's many a slip 'nounce betwixt the spring down under the fill and the watershelf at the door. May be figgers can't lie, but I lay they can make the truth look powerful sickly and pale around the gills, Rufus. Spolin things don't turn out the way you calculate. Wouldn't we be in a nice mess next fall?"

"There you go, Mother," says I. "Always a spolin."

Then I told her that old yarn about Sallie Spolin. It is a true story, though, and pints a good moral.

SALLIE SPOLIN'S SORROW.

Her right name was Sallie Wiggins, but we boys called her Sallie Spolin for short. She was a bustin big gal, with a leg on her like a two hundred dollar cow, and as ugly as a chop axe. But the neighbors all said if she want pritty she was mighty good and sweet, and a great source of comfort to her old mother. Well to be certainly Sallie didn't take to marryin much, and bye and bye she got to be an old maid, and a great hand at spolin.

One day Deacon Joiner had been to town and was comin along home when he runs up on Sallie down at the neighborhood bridge close to the edge with her feet swingin and dangle over the water and rockin to and fro and blubberin and cryin like her heart was broke.

"My dere sister," says the Deacon, "what in all the world aileth you?"

"I aint a pesterin you now," says Sallie. "I aint a pesterin nobody. I'm tendin to my own business—and spolin—boo hoo hoo."

"But you are cryin so, my sister, and I aint no comfort and consol with you," says the Deacon.

"I don't want none of your comfort and consol," says Sallie. "I don't want nothin. I was only spolin."

"Blessed is them that mourn," says the Deacon, "providin theyve got somethin to mourn for. But they were perfect vanity, my dere, dyin sister, to weep and wail for nothin. What in the name of grace and common sense have you been a spolin?"

"Well, Deacon, if you must know, I reckon I'll have to tell you," says Sallie between her sobs and sighs. "I was jest spolin if I had of got married when I was a young gal—and spolin I had of had some children and they was growin up now—and spolin they had of come down here to play on this bridge—and—and spolin they had of fell off in the creek and got drowned—boo-hoo-hoo."

The deacon he gives the case up as about three times too many for him. But the story soon leaked out to the neighborhood, and after that Sallie Wiggins was Sallie Spolin.

STRIKING A BRACER.

Nevertheless, notwithstanding, henceforth thereof, I was feelin sort of jibous and givy after the family consultation. Mother hadn't tumbled in to suit me. But as I was goin back to the field that evenin I runs up on Handy Wiggins (that was Sallie Spolin's uncle) and I struck a bracer right there. After passin compliments about the weather and the prospects, Handy up and tells me that he had been doin some figgerin for himself, and he was goin to play a different game of his own.

"I've been foolin with cotton long enough," says he, "and I am goin to give it the clean go by this year. I figgered the thing out this mornin, and made up my mind to let other folks run to cotton if they wants to. But as for me, I am plantin nothin but corn and oats and wheat and hay and potatoes and sich from this time hencewards. We has been makin more cotton than the country needs, and prices are goin to drop for need, and out of sight next fall. I'm layin off to plant all the land I can in corn, and sow everything else in small grain. Then I'll take things easy durin the summer, go huntin and fishin a right smart and keep the store account down all I can. That's my hand and I'm goin to play her wide open."

Handy was doin the talkin and I gives him all the rope he wanted, but I keeps up a considerable thinkin all to myself. He was playin right straight to my hand, but it want none of my business to say any thing about the "dead sinch" or the "cold deck."

So we parted in peace and went on with our farmin operations. He plays the game accordin to his figgers, and I plays it by mine. He runs to corn and oats and sich like. I runs to cotton. My farm was on one side of the road and his was on the other side. He put in his crop early, and when I was plantin cotton he was layin by corn. He didn't work much, but he gives his crop a lick and a promise and turns her loose for the summer. Way along in the heat of the summer I was plowin in my cotton and Handy he was off huntin and fishin. I was holdin a big hand and it kept me busy as forty thousand bees in a tarbucket.

Now that was the biggest crop in the history of the State. It was a year of plenty, and some to spare. Everything was on the make; from corn and cotton and punkins to may-pops and blackberries. My cotton farm was bloomin and blossomin like a nest of roses durin the summer like and along early in the fall bimeby cats if it didn't look like the whole field, leaves, stalks and all, was gettin white and turnin to grain. And Handy's corn and other grain crops turned out bully, too. Seems like we was both playin to big luck, but I thinks I to myself Handy is playin for a naked livin, and I am out for the stuff in cold cash.

SWAPPIN LIES.

Along in August Handy comes up and calls in to save his fodder. One day I was out walkin around watchin the big cotton bolls belly out and bust open when I runs up with Handy lookin like the banks was all busted. But we passed a few words and then climbed up on the cross fence to swap lies a few rounds.

"Handy," says I, "corn is goin to be so cheap in this country next winter that a nigger wouldn't steal it." "There's where you're spillin your molasses," says Handy. "Corn's goin to be skereas as hen's teeth, and the price is goin to shoot up like a kite."

"Now, Handy," says I, "lets play the game dead square. Your bluffin aint goin to jar my hand narry bit." "Everybody in this country is raisin cotton but me," says Handy.

Everybody in Alabama is raisin corn but me," says I. Corn's goin to be some cheaper than freewood, though, and if you are after disposin of a few tons of your crop for the gathern I'll take some often your hands on them terms."

"No you won't neither," says Handy. "I take wouldn't swap corn for cotton even Steven, pound for pound. Hay and fodder is a heap better than cotton for beddin stock, and I wouldn't have no other use for it. You can't sell cotton next fall, and it won't be worth the pickin."

"I'm considerable of a liar myself. Handy, but I aint no match for you. If there's any rag on the bush you can take it," says I.

AT THE FINISH.

So along in the closin days of August I gits things to moving up lively and snatches out three bales of cotton, drawin on Mother's savings to pay for the pickin. One night I loaded the wag-n with the three bales, and at the crack of day I shoves out for the city to feel of the market. I didn't travel many miles before something a blasted sight worse than the market was feelin of me. It started in like a slow fever and wound up like a double jointed buck ager. I reckon it must of been a cross between the high lifts and the eternal jinxmans. Durned if Handy Wiggins want plum right and I was dead wrong. The whole country was runnin to cotton. There was cotton fields on the right apt cotton fields on the left, cotton fore and cotton aft. Seems like everybody had been plantin by my figgers. When I got to town they told me that the first bale had been comin in tolerable reglar and numerous for three weeks past. The warehouses was full of cotton and the streets were fillin up with it. Jeminy Christmas! At the cotton! At the cotton!! At the cotton!!!

They told me the market was dull and still a cullin, so I sells out cheap and pulled for home. As the season come on the price of cotton took a header and went down to rock bottom and the price of corn went up like a cat's back. I picked out what I could up to Christmas, sold it dirt cheap, and let the rest rot in the field.

Handy Wiggins made cords of money that year and bought up another eighty acres. He loaned me enough corn to pull through the next crop, and by livin on blackberry pies and branch water mostly for several summers, me and Mother and the baby finally come around in shape agin and saved the farm by a scratch. I found out that bettin on the short horse agin the field was monstrous risky, particular if the backin was uncertain.

There was one old farmer down in our settlement in that golden Indian summer who had the appearance of one that was saunt for and couldn't go. He moped around lookin like the ragged edges of ruination. He felt like he had been chewed up by some old cow and dropped over a fifty-foot bluff. He was strapped, and crushed, and cast down and kerflummoxed. What was the matter with him you reckon? The man and ceflin had met. He had been foolin with figgers, and his name was

SATURDAY, MAY 30, 1891.

We publish the address of Mr. Bailey G. McClellan, before the Alexandria Alliance, both because the Alliance requests it and because we know the author to be a good and patriotic man. He was our comrade in the war and sealed his devotion to the South with his blood. We are satisfied he would not advise his people to take a wrong or hurtful step knowingly, but he might be mistaken and give hurtful advice without intending it. Let us see. He advises the Alliancemen to insist on the Ocala and St. Louis demands, and this without regard to any platform of principles that may be adopted by the Democratic party to which they nearly all belong. Suppose there is a conflict between the platforms. What then becomes the patriotic duty of Southern Alliancemen? Are they prepared to abandon the Democratic party, which has done so much for them and which alone is powerful enough to help them?

Our advice is to make haste slowly and make no rash promises in regard to future political action, which may possibly conflict with Democratic purposes.

Let us see the drift of things. The Peoples' Party has already been formed. Its mission is to break down the Democratic party in the South. It adopts the identical principles Mr. McClellan advises Alliancemen to stand by. It has spread a net for Southern Alliancemen in sight of the bird. Will they walk into it? If so, let us see what they will be called on to further subscribe to. The Peoples' Party demands woman suffrage and increased pension for the South. Let us see further. Mr. Powderly, the head of the Knights of Labor, who are to make up much of this third party, says that when the Southern farmers learn to regard the negro as a man and his crowd are willing to help them and not before. Having conceded woman suffrage and consented to a further pension, they will be next called on to take the negro to their bosom. This is the great point of division between the people of the North and the South both in church and politics. Here it is again. The Republican Alliancemen of Kansas, the State that gave us John Brown, will be with Mr. Powderly in this demand. Can Southern farmers stand this? Can they afford to help break down the Democratic party which has saved them from this social death to accept it through the third party for the pitiful consideration of money? Is not our civilization, the social status of our children, the preservation of the purity of our race above price?

We have nothing but the root of the farmers of the South at heart when we advise them to pause and think before they commit themselves irrevocably to a platform of principles that may lead them outside the Democratic party.

The printers of the REPUBLICAN office take advantage of the absence of Mr. Grant to publish the following complimentary notice of him and the REPUBLICAN from the Heflin (Cibola Co.) New Era, of date of the 21st inst.

"Hon. L. W. Grant the present Senator from this district, who is also Editor of the 'old reliable' the Jacksonville Republican, has for the past 35 years labored faithfully, in season and out of season, and for the upholding and dissemination of the true principles of democracy on the Jeffersonian line, paid our town a pleasant visit on last Monday, and while in town called in to see the New Era.

He takes a very cheerful view of the present political outlook and believes that the much needed reforms can and will be wrought out through the efforts of the great national democratic party, that tariffs will be reduced to the limits of the government's need, when economically administered, and that free coinage of silver will be resumed by the government and the financial affairs of the people will be greatly relieved. Col. Grant made one of the most active, vigorous and useful members of the present senate; he was always in his place and investigated every proffered measure, adding those that were for the good of the people and opposing strongly those that were opposed to the best interest of the people. He has just cause to be proud of his record as Senator, and the State will always be better by having such men in her highest councils. The country will not lose sight of his valuable services, and when the mantle so long and so honorably worn by the old hero and Statesman W. H. Forney, must fall from him upon the shoulders of another, none will be found more fitted to wear it honorably, faithfully and for the good of the whole people than is Hon. L. W. Grant."

Mr. A. W. Cummings has retired from the management of the Piedmont Inquirer and Mr. Jas. C. Wickes takes his place. Col. Robt. McKee, the ablest editorial writer in the State will, we are glad to say, continue his connection with the paper.

Senator Call has been re-elected by the Florida legislature and the long struggle is at end.

PEOPLES' PARTY.

VERY YOUNG, BUT VERY ROYAL AT ITS BIRTH.

Formal Approval of Principles—Organization That May Prove a Great Power in Politics.

A VERY PLAIN PLATFORM ADOPTED

Free From Glittering Generalities—Free Coinage and the Sub-Treasury Scheme Indorsed—Vociferous Enthusiasm in the Cincinnati Convention.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, May 20.—When the convention got together this morning a chorus from the Farmers' Alliance song book preceded the prayer by Rev. Gilbert Delameter, the Greenback ex-Congressman. Delameter was roundly applauded when he arose to pray. Frequent and earnest amen from the audience punctuated the invocations, and then the Kansas Glee Club regaled them with humorous ditty.

Reports from the Committees of Arrangements and Credentials now helped to kill time pending the exciting developments that many looked for when the Platform Committee was ready to report.

A collection was taken to reimburse Chairman Power, of the Arrangements Committee, $365 which he had expended, and on account of which he had received only $36.

The report of the Credentials Committee showed 1,471 delegates present. The larger delegations were from Kansas 407, Ohio 317, Indiana 154. Senator Peffer was then presented to the convention as permanent chairman.

An appeal was made from the platform for funds to pay home the fare of the colored Alliance delegate from South Carolina. The delegate, Savage, by means, came forward personally and in a clever speech said the reason so few of the colored delegates were represented was that the colored people were too poor. It was, perhaps, as well for the convention, he added, evening the hats that were being passed around for his benefit, that so few of the colored delegates came. He was handed a hatful of small change, and retired amid great cheering for the Colored Alliance.

A proposition to adopt the unit rule was overwhelmingly defeated, on the ground that every man that came to the convention should have a vote and have it counted. The five minute rule for speeches was adopted. A recess was taken until 2 p. m.

AFTER RECESS.

When the convention reassembled, a letter from L. L. Polk which was read, advising this conference to issue an address and defer action on the third party until 1892, caused a breeze, when a motion to refer it to the Committee on Resolutions was declared carried, there was a loud demand—notably from the Minnesota delegation—that the negative be put more forcibly by the Chair. The demand was renewed and continued from time to time during the reading of a number of miscellaneous telegrams. Ignatius Donnelly, the Chairman of the Committee on Resolutions, climbed up on the rostrum at this juncture and amid a whirlwind of excitement announced that he was there to represent that the Committee on Platform was a unit for the organization of a third party.

He gave way to Robert Schilling, of Wisconsin, Secretary of the committee, who read

THE PLATFORM.

First.—That in view of the great social, industrial and economical revolution now dawning on the civilized world and the new and living issues confronting the American people, we believe that the time has arrived for a crystallization of the political reform forces of our country and the promotion of what should be known as the Peoples' Party of the United States of America.

Second.—That we most heartily indorse the demands of the platform as adopted at St. Louis, Mo., in 1880; Ocala, Fla., in 1890, and Omaha, Neb., in 1891, by the industrial organizations there represented, summarized as follows: A.—The right to make and issue money and the sovereign power to be maintained by the people for the common benefit. Hence we demand the abolition of national banks as a substitute for National bank notes made one of the most active, vigorous and useful members of the present senate; he was always in his place and investigated every proffered measure, adding those that were for the good of the people and opposing strongly those that were opposed to the best interest of the people. He has just cause to be proud of his record as Senator, and the State will always be better by having such men in her highest councils. The country will not lose sight of his valuable services, and when the mantle so long and so honorably worn by the old hero and Statesman W. H. Forney, must fall from him upon the shoulders of another, none will be found more fitted to wear it honorably, faithfully and for the good of the whole people than is Hon. L. W. Grant."

B.—We demand the free and unlimited coinage of silver.

ALLEN OWNERSHIP.

C.—We demand the passage of laws prohibiting alien ownership of land and that Congress take prompt action to devise some plan to obtain all the lands now owned by alien and foreign syndicates and that all land held by railroads and other corporations in excess of such as is actually used and needed by them be reclaimed by the Government and held for actual settlers only.

D.—Believing in the doctrine of equal rights to all and special privileges to none, we demand that taxation, National, State or municipal, shall not be used to build up one interest or class at the expense of another.

E.—We demand that all revenues, National, State or county, shall be limited to the necessary expenses of the Government, economically and honestly administered.

F.—We demand a just and equitable system of graduated tax on income.

G.—We demand the most rigid, honest and just national control and supervision of means of public communication and transportation, and if this control and supervision does not remove the abuses now existing we demand the Government ownership of such means of communication and transportation.

H.—We demand the election of the President and Vice-President and United States Senators by a direct vote of the people.

I.—That we urge action of all progressive organizations in attending the conference called for Feb. 22, 1892, by six of the leading reform organizations.

Fourth.—That a National Control Committee be appointed by this conference to be composed of a chairman to be elected by this body and of three members from each State represented, to be named by each State delegation.

Fifth.—That this Central Committee shall represent this body and attend the National Conference on February 22, 1892, and if possible unite with that and all other reform organizations there assembled. If no satisfactory arrangement can be effected, this committee shall call a National Convention not later than June 1, 1892, for the purpose of nominating candidates for President and Vice President.

Sixth.—That the members of the Central Committee for each State where there is no independent political organization conduct active system of political agitation in their respective States.

ADDITIONAL RESOLUTIONS.

Not a part of the platform were presented. They recommended the favorable consideration of universal suffrage, demanded that the treasury notes paid the soldiers be made equivalent to coin, favored an eight hour day and condemned the actions of the World's Fair Commission with reference to wages.

VOCIFEROUS ENTHUSIASM.

The name of the new party, "The Peoples' Party of the United States," elicited a magnificent burst of applause, and as each plank was read the cheering was renewed so frequently that the great hall seemed to reverberate continuously. When the resolutions recommending universal suffrage to favorable consideration, and demanding the payment of bounties on a gold basis were read, the former met with rather a chilly reception but the latter was roundly cheered.

Mr. Schilling announced that the pension plank was left to the soldier members of the committee with the inquiry whether it was satisfactory and on his acquiescence it was adopted unanimously.

Mr. Davis, of Texas, a rank six-footer in a light suit, who had electrified the convention during Mr. Donnelly's speech by a long weird whoop of exultation, was conducted to the platform and to the intense delight of the convention repeated the unearthly Indian-like yell. When he announced himself as an ex-Confederate and declared himself for the platform—every plank and every resolution. An extraordinary spectacle followed. Mr. Wadsworth, of Indiana, an ex-Union soldier, rushed up to ex-Confederate Davis in full view of the convention and the two once mortal foes grasped hands.

R. W. Humphrey, of Texas, organizers of colored Alliancemen, seized with the inspiration of the moment suddenly joined the ex-soldiers, and amid a perfect cyclone of enthusiasm the delegate moved the adoption of the platform as read.

THE CONVENTION WENT WILD.

The delegates mounting tables and chairs shouting and yelling like Comanches. A portion of the convention in thunderous chorus sang to the tune of "Goodbye, My Lover, Goodbye," the words "Goodbye, Old Parties, Goodbye" and then the doxology.

In the forest of the flags and State banners that had gathered with their bearers around the trio, the Kansas man, on the shoulders of two colleagues standing on chairs, raised the Kansas banner and held it aloft above all others. The tumult, surpassing in its remarkable suddenness and vigor anything that had previously taken place in the convention, lasted fully a quarter of an hour, till it ceased from the sheer exhaustion of the delegates.

Several delegates seconded the adoption of the report. On the suggestion that it be by a rising vote, "Question? Question!" came from all parts of the hall. But this pent-up enthusiasm had to have vent, and one after another of the orators relieved themselves, the delegates from time to time calling on prominent men in the convention, Messrs. Weaver, Wilcox and others. "Previous question!" shouted the delegates, but it had no effect on an irrepressible Texan, who was bound to speak his piece.

When he had finished the Chairman's gavel fell like a trip-hammer and order was finally restored.

PLATFORM ADOPTED.

The platform proper, exclusive of the other resolutions, was then adopted by a rising vote. Delegate Miller, of California, threw in a bone of contention by offering this resolution:

Resolved, That we favor the abolition of the liquor traffic.

The confusion became worse confounded. Fifty men were clamoring for recognition, but the first to succeed was Mr. Schilling, of Wisconsin. He opposed the discussion of the question of prohibition at this time, and declared that the resolution proposed by Mr. Miller had been fully considered and voted down by the Committee on Platform. To spring it now was plainly throwing a firebrand into this convention, and, his opinion, it was a deliberate attempt to cause a split in the party.

ONE-MINUTE SPEECHES.

The pressure at this time for recognition was extraordinary. In desperation the Chair proposed to give ten of the most vociferous delegates, who were crowded about his desk clamoring for recognition, one minute each, and hundreds watches were pulled out to make sure that none of the speakers exceed the sixty-second limit. The prohibition amendment was overwhelmingly defeated. The resolution were then adopted with only three dissenting votes.

At this juncture J. B. Weaver relieved Chairman Peffer, who was worn out with his fruitless efforts to preserve order, and had besides to catch a train for Washington.

The resolution against trusts was choked off by a point of order raised by Mr. Schilling, of Wisconsin, that all resolutions should be referred to the Committee on Resolutions without being read. Then the convention got down to business again and the matter of choosing a National Committee was taken up. Chairman Weaver declared a welcome recess to enable the over-heated and exhausted delegates to select members of the National Committee from their respective States.

NATIONAL COMMITTEE CHOSEN.

After recess the roll of names was called for members of the National Committee, the convention adopting the innovation of appointing three members from each State instead of one as the old parties have done.

Alliance Congressman H. G. Otis, of Kansas, nominated H. E. Taubeneck, of Illinois, as Chairman of the National Executive Committee. There was a great outburst of cheers when Taubeneck's name was mentioned.

W. L. Damb, of Texas, seconded the nomination, saying he had watched Taubeneck's record and was satisfied.

Mr. Taubeneck was chosen by acclamation.

Loud calls for Mr. Taubeneck finally brought that gentleman to the rostrum, where he made a brief but very manly and modest speech, thanking the delegates. In conclusion he said they were standing on the brink of a conflict between capital and labor and the longer the conflict was postponed the worse it would be. "Our politicians," said he, "might as well try to stop a cyclone or the movements of the stars as to evade this issue."

A few moments of confused preparation for adjournment since the announced when the Chairman's gavel fell and the first convention of the Peoples' Party of the United States had passed into history.

Difference Without Distinction.

The Peoples' party means about the same thing as the Democratic party, so far as the literal significance of the names goes. The former is of Latin and the latter of Greek derivation. That is about only substantial difference.

In Greece the people were called demos and in Rome populus.

A Democratic party, therefore, is one that believes in the rule of the people, and if that is not what the Peoples party proposes its name is entirely without significance.

To get a name entirely simple and one free from any suggestion of the high-toned classical touch, it would be better to use the word that comes to us from our Saxon ancestors, folks. "The Folks party," would not be so alliterative as "Peoples party," but it would be getting down to bed rock in simplicity.

And it would be entirely intelligible to that class of Southern farmers who compose the bulk of the Alliance in this section, a class who speak the purest Anglo-Saxon now extant.

But we started out to show that there is no difference between "the Peoples party" and the Democratic party in name, and we might add that there is no substantial difference in principle.

All that is practicable, that is any ways feasible in the platform recently adopted by the so-called Peoples party at Cincinnati is but a repetition of the time honored doctrine of Democracy, but a new demand for those things for which the Democratic party has been all the time struggling, and which it would put in practice if it could get control of the Government.

The extravagant demands of the Ocala platform are not Democratic. They are not anything practicable. They are simply wild vagaries impossible of execution, and which a sensible people like those of the United States will never attempt to execute.

The Peoples party wants tariff reform and free silver coinage. So does the Democratic party, and if the two unite on those fundamental principles they can easily have what they desire.

The Peoples party is something entirely superficial, it already existed in the Democratic party.—Birmingham Age-Herald.

ADDRESS

Before the Alexandria Alliance, No. 1001, on May 9th, 1891.

Mr. President and Brethren:—By request of our alliance at its last meeting I now enter upon the duty assigned me. The subject of vital importance with every ally every alliance man, but every tiller of the soil and every laboring man. The question is, "Shall we accept or reject the St. Louis platform as amended last December, at Ocala, Fla., by our representatives?" That platform embraces a great deal, and more than I am now able to solve. Suffice it to say, however, that there were resolutions passed and committees appointed as legislative committees to lay these resolutions before members of congress, asking and demanding that congress take immediate action there upon, and one very important resolution was, asking for the sub-treasury plan, for a bill to be referred to a committee in congress and be acted upon when the merits and demerits could be fully discussed. What did congress do in the premises? We find that they hardly treated it with a passing notice; they condemned it, and pronounced it unconstitutional without assigning valid reasons therefor. Congress has been called upon by the alliance to pass a substitute if the sub-treasury plan would not do, and still they will not. Why is this? We alliance men have become satisfied that there is something wrong in Denmark—something rotten there. They ignore other measures than the sub-treasury plan; the free and unlimited coinage of silver for instance, and in fact nearly every measure demanded of them by the Farmers' Alliance.

There is a financial crisis upon us which operates severely on the farmers and laborers of our country, brought about by the present system of money laws made by congress, and I will say a plutocratic congress—a congress composed largely of millionaires, and who are under the influence of millionaires; and we find that, in a practical point of view, the financial question has reduced itself in the alarming shape, labor demanding its share of capital, and capital making war upon labor for asking this immunity. There is only one way of redress to us farmers and laborers, and our pioneers are now blazing out the way and making our road passable, and by a united pull we will make it possible; hence we see and feel the necessity of unity in our ranks. Jacob's children have now been seeing Egyptian government about a quarter of a century, and our departure to cross the Red Sea is close at hand. We have a Moses and an Aaron for our leaders. God in his wisdom never has let his children remain in slavery only long enough for them to become willing subjects. While Moses may not be permitted only to look over in the promised land, yet his followers will cross over the Jordan dry-shod. This is figuratively speaking and a true symbol of our present and future conditions. The first important step for us is, we must harmonize on every appearance of difference among us, as our interests are identified. We must rally to our standard banners and let our ships be "onward" and "upward" in this grand farmers' movement.

While we have many opponents outside of our order we have some few among us whose motives are so strong that they will be on the alert to obtain some advantage to the detriment of our order, endeavoring to get us divided in sentiment on measures of vital importance. It should behoove every true alliance man to be on his guard and post himself well in alliance doctrines, which are founded upon pure Jeffersonian principles, whereupon he will be able to defend his position. The farmers and laborers of these United States have been trusting too much to the politicians now for twenty-five years and we now realize the result. Our voices should have been raised in loud protestations against the unfair national laws passed by congress and had them repealed. We now find many democrats and republicans, politicians alike in opposing the sub-treasury plan, and no difference between them on the currency question. They cry out alike "inflation and bankruptcy," without giving or substituting a better plan. It does seem they are in the interest of the money power and not for the farmers and laborers of our country. They want the dollar to have too much purchasing power for a two fold reason: one is to obtain a large usurious rate of interest, and the other is to obtain the products of our labor at a low nominal price. The object of the sub-treasury plan is to give more currency for the business of the country at less rates of interest. A medium which will bring producer and consumer nearer together, and thereby cut off speculation, and break down trust combinations, whereby we can get a value for our productions and purchase the articles we need at relative rates. By the sub-treasury plan the government issues the money direct to the people in the shape of treasury notes, redeemable in taxes or something else. Any way the notes to be good for taxes, export duties, etc. We need not make such a borrow of the money as some would have you believe. We simply exchange our produce for money at a stipulated price agreed upon. While the government does not pay us full value at the time of the sale, she retains one-fifth of the value twelve months or less time, and gets interest at a low rate for the money she advances, thereby no one is hurt in the transaction. To illustrate: Suppose there are seven bales of cotton, averaging 500 pounds each, all delivered to the government by November 15th, the government can hold the cotton twelve months or longer if necessary, and by the increase of currency the prices will be advanced to 12½ cents per pound. By this the farmers will get 10 cents per pound advanced, and this would increase the volume of currency three hundred and fifty million dollars in immediate circulation, and thereby the volume of circulating medium would be increased to $50 per capita in our season, and by this means the large money holders would have to seek fields for investment, and at less rates of interest. While prices of the product of labor would enhance relatively, the agricultural interest would thereby encouraged; a cash basis would be also established; the mortgage system would cease, especially crop lien mortgage; our country would move on prosperously and harmoniously. But under the present monetary system what can the farmers and laborers promise themselves ultimately? Only a bare existence. They cannot accumulate enough above making an honest living to educate their children and have enough left after a decent burial to mark their last resting place, so as to be identified in twenty years after they are laid away. This is no child's talk. Our own observation teaches us this. Now, brethren, let us go to work and remedy the evils that are now besetting us; there should be no idlers among us; there is work for every true alliance man. Let us buckle on our armor and go forth as mighty men, declaring that we are for "equal rights to all and special favors to none," and that we have asked for equal rights and still we are refused. We must hoist our banners and unfurl them to the world, with our motto inscribed thereon in ineffaceable letters. "This government is of the people and rightfully belongs to the people, and that the people shall rule." The Farmers' Alliance and other organizations have united and will co-operate in the grandest move since the days of George Washington. This organization will work out the salvation of our country, and place us on a higher plane, though we will have to endure the brunt of unjust criticism and many falsehoods. But, brethren, let us be firm and steadfast, and true to the trust reposed in us, and the victory shall be ours.

B. G. MCCLELLAN.

Has to Say of Baker's Blood

and Liver Cure

TESTIMONIAL.

Piedmont, Ala., May 18, 1887.

My brother, Dr. F. Savage, of Leadville, Ala., has been afflicted with this horrible disease for many years; the disease then broke out in great eruptions all over his body, inside his mouth and on his tongue, so that he could not go out of his room, nor talk. He was treated by all the doctors of this section of country for two years, and also by Dr. W. F. Westmoreland, of Atlanta, which only held the disease in check, without any prospect of cure, and so pronounced by the doctors. In this condition he lay in his room for three months. So offensive was the stench you could not sit in the room, especially in warm weather, and it was decided by doctors and all that saw him that it was only a matter of time when the disease would exit him alive.

In August, 1887, I heard that Dr. Baker's Blood and Liver Cure had cured one of my neighbors, Mr. J. D. Braswell, of a bad case. I at once procured some of the medicine and gave it to my brother. About the first of November, 1887, all sores disappeared; and, though I used every means to make it break out again, I failed. My brother, by degrees, got able to work some, and he continued to improve in health and strength, until to-day he is stouter and in better health than ever before in his life. No sign of the disease has reappeared for over six months. I am perfectly satisfied that he is permanently cured. And I would recommend all persons afflicted with scrofula or like diseases to give Dr. Baker's Blood and Liver Cure a trial, feeling sure it will cure any case. It is no humbug. It is a purely vegetable preparation.

I have said this much, and could say more, for this medicine cured my brother, and recommended all persons afflicted with scrofula or like diseases to give Dr. Baker's Blood and Liver Cure a trial, feeling sure it will cure any case. It is no humbug. It is a purely vegetable preparation.

Parties doubting the above statement can be convinced by writing to Mr. Savage. He will cheerfully answer your letter. Baker's Blood and Liver Cure has never been known to fail to cure scrofula, syphilis, rheumatism or any kind of blood disease. Hundreds of physicians are using it daily with splendid results. Send for a free trial. If not in stock, write to Dr. J. H. Allen, Box 400, Augusta, Maine.

by local applications, as they can not reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure Deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.
